

CADET FALL WORKSHOP

Preview of 2017 Cadet Activities and Workshops

Nov. 19th, 1300-1600, in building 1214 (a block further past the Wing Bldg.)

Come join us for the prominent social Wing gathering of the year. As we prepare for the Fall season, settle into the program, recover from Cascade Falcon, and look forward to future CAP activities, we are reminded of the hospitality and pleasures offered by the Wing. Fall workshop is our opportunity to get together as a whole and re-sync. Have a look at what this Fall Workshop has to offer:

The Workshop will start off with a few large activities. Following sign in will be the Cadet Brief, where cadets will be informed of commonly missed opportunities offered, current events available to cadets, and important notifications. How do I pay for encampment? What is going on in the Wing? How can I contribute?

What goes on at Cadet Advisory Council Meetings? How is so much covered in such a short time? This year, the CAC has decided to hold an open meeting. Yes, a completely open meeting. Anyone may choose to be present and give their thoughts. Order must still be kept, but cadets opinions are what they represent.

Cadets will then split off into their respective groups: officers and enlisted. Both groups are led by an experienced cadet with useful knowledge and insight to the program. Cadet officers will discuss a variety of topics ranging from the role of an officer to (insert here). Enlisted cadets will cover the roles of NCOs and airmen.

Calling all Cadet Commanders: Are you curious how other squadrons run things? Have you received proper mentorship and advice regarding your position? This Workshop will provide an opportunity for you to discuss your Cadet Commander role with current and previous Cadet Commanders from around the Wing. You can share ideas you have, get help with that problem you have been trying to solve, and become a better Leader for your cadets. If you have served in this capacity in the past, please join us to pass on your experiences.

Civil Air Patrol offers many fruitful opportunities to cadets. Attendees will have the option to explore one of these four topics in more depth: Aerospace, Emergency Services, Cadet Programs, or Cyberpatriot. Experts on each subject will be available for questions and advice.

Cadets will have plenty of time to change and prepare for the feast. At the banquet, delicious food will be served while awards are given out for excellence in the Cadet Program and more. Want to know who received the Quality Cadet Unit Award? Come join us.

We are pleased to end Fall Workshop with the 2016 Autumn Dance. Following the banquet, we give cadets the opportunity to participate in social dances, slow dances, and more. The dance has been a traditional part of wing-wide events, and we certainly are not going to change that.

The 2016 Fall Workshop and Cadet Ball is centralized around the theme of wing unity and communication with one another. We hope to answer any questions you have regarding the program and its opportunities, provide fun and engaging workshops to nurture cadets growth, and foster new and old friendships alike.
